

Oenamatopeia

My first introduction into the massively intimidating and awesome program known as After Effects, this was a grueling project. After choosing an instrumental song of our choice, we were to visually graph the layout of the song through words as sounds. Once this type score was done, we were to translate it into a 1 minute kinetic type animation. The song used is Basshead by Bassnectar. The animation can be seen at the following Vimeo link!:

<https://vimeo.com/39592613>